

An evening of rootsy, folky, funky acoustic music with whalebone

'Whalebone completely & utterly captivate with their passion & sheer musicianship...' Katy Jay

'blistering... hugely enjoyable...' Jazz Mann

With a sound that hints at Fairport, Flook and acoustic Led Zep without the vocals, Whalebone's music is a marriage of folk music and classic guitar rock played on acoustic guitars and fiddle, combining upfront spellbinding musicianship, infectious driving rhythms and exuberant presentation.

www.whalebone-music.com

Loppington Church

St. Michael's and All Angels, Church Lane, Loppington, SY4 5SR.

Friday 20th April 2012 at 7.30pm

Tickets £7.50 (includes a glass of wine and nibbles), £4 children from

Helen on 01939 233685, the Post Office or online from www.ticketsource.co.uk/whalebone

A fund-raising raffle will be held in the interval.